

Ask the right question

Student A

Ask Student B questions in a way that they answer by saying the words below.

E.g. "What is the skin color of the current US president?" - "Orange."

-orange      -fever      -traffic jam      -Twitter      -cookies      -me
-rain      -thief      -pollution      -border      -next month      -Shakespeare
-fantastic      -accountant      -fox      -sofa      -marshmallows
-high heels      -sand      -Wednesday      -Chinese Wall      -scarf

Answer Student B's questions.

---

Student B

Answer Student A's questions.

Ask Student A questions in a way that they answer by saying the words below.

E.g. "What is the skin color of the current US president?" - "Orange."

-orange      -Nike      -fork      -elbow      -peanut butter      -you
-fog      -murderer      -hospital      -mountains      -last year
-salmon      -nobody      -fridge      -Einstein      -superpowers
-pyramids      -salt      -rocks      -fire      -who

---

Student C

Ask Student D questions in a way that they answer by saying the words below.

E.g. "What is the skin color of the current US president?" - "Orange."

-orange      -Texas      -kettle      -toes      -sushi      -everyone
-storm      -tragedy      -dentist      -fastfood      -discount
-spinach      -we      -cooker      -Marie Curie      -flying
-ice      -liver      -jungle      -what      -silence

Answer Student D's questions.

---

Student D

Answer Student C's questions.

Ask Student C questions in a way that they answer by saying the words below.

E.g. "What is the skin color of the current US president?" - "Orange."

-orange      -Sweden      -pancakes      -carpet      -iron      -kids
-sunshine      -beef      -knee      -church      -pizza      -car
-secret      -Maria Theresa      -bathtub      -stairs      -honey      -snail
-Statue of Liberty      -last week      -sunrise      -space      -hell